GEORGE E. PARISOE
GIVES LAST SERMON;
DECRIES CRITICISM

Presbyterian Pastor Delivers Farewell Sermon—Reviews Progress During His Pastorate.

To a well-filled church yesterday morning, the Reverend George Edwin Parisoie preached his farewell sermon. He leaves the Presbyterian church very soon to take up the pastorate of the University of Wyoming, Freshman, Parisoie's words were simple and unaffected, but filled with a deep faith and devotion and carrying with them a message of love and appreciation for his congregation.

He urged that people not fear to do things for religion; merely because each individual cannot feel that he is perfect enough to do things in the name of Christ, is no reason why he should not try. He emphasized the purpose of the Christian religion as the carrying out of the heart's desire of Jesus to bring about the Kingdom of Heaven on earth. All about the church must point to spirit and not to the human being. So also with the human being; either all personal characteristics must help the person in being nearer to God, or as hindrances they must be removed.

Our duty must not be measured by our own ability, but complete dependence upon Christ is necessary to carry out his will, and is essential to the success of the Christian. There is no reason to be discouraged if the fruits of our labors are not revealed at once; the faithful enchainment of the wishes of Jesus will always bring about blessing in the end.

"We must school ourselves to this one fact: If we expect great things from God then we be able to do great things for Him."

As we look back over the years of our pastorate, said Reverend Parisoie in departing, we are happy to look back over a very prosperous period. We produce only the greatest success for the future, and complete confidence in the ability of the congregation to continue in an ever more prosperous period, and in its judgment in picking the next pastor. He was most emphatic in his requests that the congregation leave the selection of the new pastor to the committee, and that the committee be given full authority to select the next pastor. He was most emphatic in his requests that the congregation leave the selection of the new pastor to the committee, and that the committee be given full authority to select the next pastor.

Mr. Parisoie makes a rather detailed account of the progress and prosperity of the church during his pastorate in his resignation tendered to the congregation. To the members of the First Presbyterian church and congregation. Greeting.

In presenting to you my resignation I am deeply conscious of the bond of love which binds us as pastor and people. In handing you my resignation, I am prompted by no other spirit but of a sincere desire to enter upon what we believe to be a larger field of service.

Mrs. Ada P. Kimberley, State Regent, to Be Among Distinguished Guests at Session.

Mrs. Ada P. Kimberley of this city, honorary state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will be one of the distinguished guests at the twentieth annual conference of the organization to be held at Milwaukee Wednesday.

An informal reception will be given on the mezzanine floor of the Hotel Elster.

The distinguished guests will be: Mrs. John P. Hume, state regent, Wisconsin; Mrs. George C. Squire, state regent, Minnesota; Mrs. William H. Waite, state regent, Minnesota; Mrs. H. H. Crosby, (donor); Mrs. President general Hartman; Mrs. Ada P. Kimberley, honorary state regent; Mrs. Edward C. Van Ostrand, honorary state regent.

Reception will be assisted by Mrs. R. B. Hartman, regent Milwaukee chapter, at the reception, together with the following state chairman and chapter members: Chairman: Mmes. P. H. Peas, J. G. Rexford, O. A. Lueck, Emil C. Pors, John J. Corbett, W. W. Mitchell, S. C. Newman, E. W. Whipple, the Misses Martha W. Whipple, L. Atwood, and Jeanette S. Burroughs.

Chapter Members: Mmes. John LeFober, A. C. Umbreit, Charles D. Weeks, W. B. Johnson, F. E. Castle, William E. Anderson, John Laffin, George D. Bartlett, Grant Fitch, Carroll M. Towne, Charles D. Mann, D. H. Johnson, S. S. Merrill, A. M. Joys, Ferguson, S. S. Merrill, A. M. Joys, C. S. Childs, Theodore Yates, Alfred Dawson, Frederick Stryker, Charles Gilman, A. J. Timmerman, R. C. Gilman, J. M. Kurtz, the Misses Fanny Burnell, Olive Merrill and Fanny Jenkins.

At the formal luncheon which follows at 1 p. m. in the hotel, the Rev. Mr. Kimball will invoke the Divine blessing. Greetings will be given by Mrs. R. B. Hartman and Mrs. John P. Hume. There will be vocal solos by Mrs. John Kocher and Becher Burton. The accompanists will be Mrs. J. V. Carrell and Miss Hutching. An address will be given by the Rev. Charles H. Beale.

At 3 p. m. the first formal session of the conference will be held in the red room of the hotel. Two brilliant social functions will close the day's session—one at tea from 5 to 7 p. m. in the home of Mrs. C. S. Childs, and the other a reception in the home of the state regent, Mrs. John P. Hume, as a compliment to Mrs. C. S. Childs, to which all daughters are invited.

F. A. CANNON TALKS ON CONCRETE ROADS

Executive Secretary of Good Roads Association Points Out Advantages of Permanent Roads.

At the picnic given Saturday by the Janesville Commercial club, the party was fortunate in having F. A. Cannon, the executive secretary of the Good Roads Association of Wisconsin present to speak on the matter of good roads in general and upon the proposed concrete road connecting Janesville, Beloit and Madison in particular.

Mr. Cannon made a number of statements, authority for which he obtained from government statistics, which showed in a pertinent manner the benefits of good roads.

At first he gave the state statistics we find that there are over 2,100,000 tons of dairy products alone hauled over the various roads of this state. Now the loss from the excessive rack and tear on the machinery, the wagons and motor cars used in this hauling would be more than enough to pay the interest on the bonded indebtedness floated to build permanent concrete trunk highways all through the state.

"The matter of permanent highways was investigated in Outagamie county and as a result the county was bonded for $50,000 for concrete roads."

The automobile has demonstrated the fact that the old dirt and macadam construction is no longer possible. In the day of the wagon and buggy the day of the bound dirt road backed down and became better as the traffic increased. But a motor car has a totally different effect on a road.

speed causes a tremendous suction which pulls the surface of any soft road away from the foundation, leaving large jagged holes. It is really cheaper in the long run to build permanent concrete roads than to keep repairing the old dirt roads.

The amount saved by a county on maintenance would more than pay off the interest on the additional original cost.

"The trouble with the present system of roads is that it is too much like a patchwork. A map of Wisconsin roads showing each section of road would look like a Morse code, or a cheese factory map. Out of forty-five hundred miles of state road at least three thousand are different grades of Rock county the great saving to be derived from the construction of a real highway over which all sorts of traffic could be taken.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT A TURKEY SHORTAGE

Prices May Go Down Before Thanksgiving—No Reason to Believe There Will Be a Turkey Shortage.

With the coming of the clear, cold, autumn days, one's thoughts begin to turn to Thanksgiving. Vivid pictures of great brown turkeys, steaming mounds of potatoes, spiced meats and bowls of cranberry sauce flicker in the mind's eye. Everyone imagines to himself the festive board of Thanksgiving days, loaded with the fruits of the harvest, the heat of the fire, the carols of the gobbler and the rest of the family watching each movement with impatient expectation.

But there creeps into these cheerful imagines a gloomy memory of the grocer's bill, of the price of the turkey, of the much bemoaned high cost of living, and straightaway much of the pleasure of the anticipation gives way to the cheerless forebodings of the possibility of an old-time feast. At the present cost of many commodities a board "piled high" with Thanksgiving feasts is enough to take a man's breath away. Still it's a long time before Thanksgiving and many changes are possible in the intervening period. Sweet potatoes are notoriously cheap, and there is nothing to believe that there will be any shortage in the turkey crop because of the European war or the dry season.

Local markets today show no change. Fresh eggs are up to thirty-five cents this morning. A large shipment of good peaches at $1.50 a bushel has come in; this would be a propitious time for canning and pickling.

Prices Paid Producers—Ton lots: Straw, 6.00@7.00; hay, $10@12; oats, 40@50 bushel; new ear corn, $18@21; barley, 95c@1.00; wheat, $1.10@1.30; rye, $1.00@1.10.

Grain—Ground corn and outs, $1.65 per 100 lbs.; scratch feed, $2.05@2.25.

Retail Market Prices: Onions, dry, 7c lb.; green peppers, 25c doz; celery, 5c stalk; 3 for 10c; parsley, 5c bunch; flour, $2.25@2.45 per sack; green apples, 5@6c lb.; bananas, 10@20c dozen; potatoes, 4c; radishes, 15c per bushel; green tomatoes, 8c cents bushel; head lettuce, 12c each; green onions, 5c per bunch; tomatoes, 8c per lb.; cucumbers, 2c; for 1 dozen; cabbages, 5c lb.; pineapples, 10c; lemons, 40c doz.; pears, 35c doz.; gooseberries, 12c box; melons, 10@12c; plums, 15c doz.; apricots, 15c doz.; watermelons, 15c; grapes, 30c bush; sickle pears, 6c lb.; green corn 15 cents dozen; sweet potatoes, 12 pounds for 25c; quinces, 8c lb.; sweet apples, 50c peck; cranapples, 6c pound; green beans, 12c lb.; damsel plums, 10c box; cranberry bushes, $1.50 bu.; 80c half bu.; plums, 35c; cranberries, 12 lb. pound; turnips, 50c; lima beans, 20c pint; egg plant, 15c; squash, 20c 25c; quince, 8c lb.; 2 for 5c; fresh coconut, 10c.

GARRICK EASILY WON WAGE

Artist Had Not Figured on How Quickly Actor Could Change Expression of His Face.

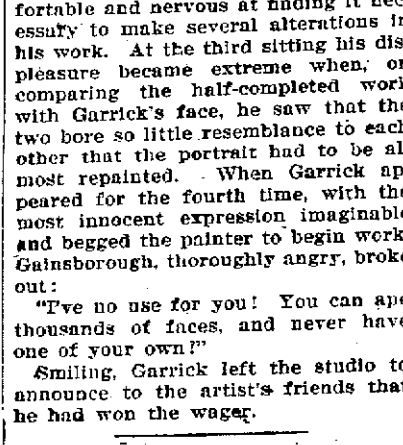

At an entertainment at which Gainsborough and the famous actor David Garrick were present, an ardent admirer of the great artist declared, according to Bibliothek der Unterhaltung und des Wissens, that Gainsborough had never failed to take a person's likeness in a portrait, no matter how difficult the subject might be. Garrick thereupon asserted that Gainsborough could not paint his likeness, and begged to be allowed to sit for his portrait. Gainsborough, pleased at the commission, and expecting to find it very interesting to paint the actor's expressive countenance, gladly consented. Garrick then made a secret wager with the artist's friends that he could prove to them that there was one face at least that Gainsborough could not paint.

The results of the first sitting were very satisfactory to the complacent artist. At the second sitting, however, Gainsborough was made uncomfortable and nervous at finding it necessary to make several alterations in his work. At the third sitting his displeasure became extreme when, on comparing the half-completed work with Garrick's face, he saw that the two bore so little resemblance to each other that the portrait had to be almost repainted. When Garrick appeared for the fourth time, with the most innocent expression imaginable and begged the painter to begin work, Gainsborough, thoroughly angry, broke out:

"I've no use for you! You can ape thousands of faces, and never have one of your own!"

Smiling, Garrick left the studio to announce to the artist's friends that he had won the wager.

NEW CITY ATTORNEY SELECTED TOMORROW COUNCILMEN THINK

Commissioners Goodman and Cummings See Subject as Important Part of Tuesday's Meeting.

Selection of an attorney for the city of Janesville, in all probability will be made at the regular meeting of the commissioners on Tuesday night, according to the councilmen this morning. At least half a dozen verbal applications have been received individually by Mayor James A. Fubers and Commissioner Peter J. Goodman and Roy M. Cummings from as many local attorneys who have aspirations to be the city's legal advisor.

No single formal application, however, has been filed with the city clerk. Otherwise, the self-selected candidates have placed their lot in the hands of their commissioner. Fubers and Cummings are not in this direction. What the result will be must wait the commission's meeting tomorrow.

According to Commissioners Goodman and Cummings this morning no conference, either formal or informal had been had with Mayor Fubers relative to filling the position made vacant through the resignation of William H. Dougherty, who gave up the city job to assume the active business and enter into a law firm partnership with Mr. Goodman and Mr. Cummings.

Mr. Dougherty notified the city officials that until they had selected an attorney to fill the position made vacant through the resignation of William H. Dougherty, who gave up the city job to assume the active business and enter into a law firm partnership with Mr. Goodman and Mr. Cummings.

Mayor Fubers was out of the city today, but when asked regarding the matter last week, he stated that nothing definite had been done regarding the appointment. At that time he did not know just what attitude either Mr. Goodman or Mr. Cummings held as to prospective candidates.

Mr. Dougherty notified the city officials that until they had selected an attorney to fill the position made vacant through the resignation of William H. Dougherty, who gave up the city job to assume the active business and enter into a law firm partnership with Mr. Goodman and Mr. Cummings.

Robert Barless, who is attending the university at Madison, also John Barless, now at Beloit college, were week-end guests of their mother, Mrs. R. Barless, of Rock Prairie.

Mrs. E. E. Eldridge, 809 Pleasant street, was given over entirely to the large circuit court and jury rooms. The room is too large and the acoustics are too poor, to be satisfactory for jury trials.

It is proposed to divide the court room into two rooms, one for the county board and the other for the circuit court. Many of the judges declared that the room is much smaller than formerly, which greatly facilitates matters in the course of trials.

The need of adequate meeting place for the county supervisors is said to be imperative.

In addition to a court room and county board assembly room, there would also be provisions made for the necessary jury rooms, lawyers' conference rooms, committee rooms, and a room for the circuit court law library.

No figures have been given on the probable cost of the new building, but it is thought that it would not be excessive, compared with the greater convenience which would result.

The whole matter will be practically taken up at the coming session of the board. Several conferences between the committee and Judge Grimm and the architects have already been held.

LARGE COURT ROOM MAY BE REMODELED; SECURE ESTIMATES

Special Committee Investigates Proposal to Make Alterations in Upper Floor of County Building.

Investigation of the advisability and cost of making alterations in the upper floor of the county house is now being made by a special committee of the county board of supervisors, composed of Supervisors E. D. McGowan and J. A. Dedering.

The committee was organized at the April meeting of the board and the committee will report at the annual session in November.

The cramped condition of the county board's quarters in the county clerk's office, and the antiquated arrangement of the large circuit court room, prompted the proposal for an investigation of plans for remodeling.

An architect is now working on plans which will call for an entire change in the plans of the upper floor of the county house.

FT. ATKINSON WINS BY SCORE OF 44-0

Local Team Due for Week of Hard Practice.—Play Evansville Here Next Saturday.

In spite of the defeat of the local high school team by the Ft. Atkinson team with the humiliating score of 44-0, the boys and the coaches have not lost heart. A week of hard practice will put them in better shape for the game next Saturday with Evansville, which will be played in this city. There are no injuries to combat, and there are very good chances of getting some of the boys who have been inactive back into the game. With the brighter prospects of playing a school which has not had a team for six years instead of an aggregation of players who have worked together for two seasons, the high school boys are determined to do their best and pull down a victory from Evansville. In the game Saturday, the center of the line held well, but the ends proved to be weak points. They tried hard but didn't seem to have the football in them. Nuzum and Kenning played the best game for the local team, both in breaking up the Port's offense and in carrying the ball.

Coach Keck is planning some stiff work this week in the hopes of building up a stronger defense, and is most optimistic about the results of the coming game.

Dick Overton from out near Shopiere says that the M. E. Church in that town had a gayety social the other day, and that C. E. Culver drove down there from his place in his car on the gasoline tank, and one on the number bracket. This shows, according to Overton, just how smooth the roads are in La Prairie, when a man can drive over them without jarring a bunch of hens off the back of the car. The Gazette deduces anyone to do a stunt like that on Main street.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND BY DAISY DEAN

Joan Sawyer's wonderful dancing will not be lost to the world because she has joined the ranks of the silent drama.

In the new photoplay in which Miss Sawyer is now busily at work under the direction of Tefft Johnson, the famous society danseuse has several opportunities to display her art. The picture has a background of egyptian life, and the first steps the noted dancer takes for the film are photographed at midnight in the glow of the egyptian campfire.

The plot of Miss Sawyer's initial production has been planned out so carefully that her dancing, in each instance, fits in naturally with, and is essential to, the story.

CLEO MADISON IS A BRAVE GIRL.

One of the bravest actresses in moving pictures today is Cleo Madison, the beautiful girl who has been the heroine of many of these deeds. She was the girl of the derelict. She also played a part where she was required to unclip a speeding train. One especially more daring than any other was an auto race. The story called for her to get every ounce of speed possible out of the auto she was driving. She was being pursued. The car behind her must blow up at a given place.

In order to destroy the pursuing auto a time fuse was inserted in the gas tank. It was figured that going at so many miles an hour it would explode at a certain place. Now there was a great danger to the man driving this car. He could not look back to see how far the fuse had burned, but had to depend on its accuracy and jump half a minute before it exploded.

It was required that the pursued car be only a short distance in front so that the impression be given that it was about to be overtaken. This also endangered the driving of the other car by Cleo Madison. Everything fortunately came out all right. But with the explosion the car pieces of wood and parts flew in every direction, some of it showering around the camera.

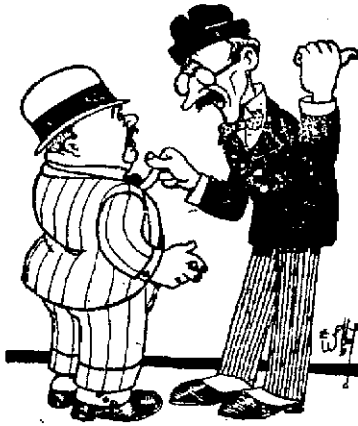

Few actresses have taken the chances Cleo Madison has since she made her screen debut. She has fought on the edge of cliffs, leaped from speeding express trains, and plunged from burning buildings into nets. One of the most sensational films ever accomplished for the screen was performed by her a few weeks ago. When she leaped from a fast-going automobile onto the rear platform of the California limited, near Barstow.

Henry B. Walthall will soon begin work on "The Truant Soul," a story written by Victor Rousseau, the famous novelist. Promises this will be the best Walthall story ever filmed. About 600 scenes will be taken.

K. OF C. CONCERT.

Milton Rusch, the young pianist, accompanist with Joseph Conlin, tenor, at the New Myers Theatre on Wednesday evening next, is a pupil of Milwaukee's famous teacher, Professor Jacob Moerschel.

This young artist is a favorite in music circles throughout the middle west and he has had the honor of playing before two of the "World's Famous Pianists," namely, Godowsky and Liebowitz, of Mr. Rusch's work both artists praised him very highly. That Mr. Rusch is an artist of the very first rank, is found in some of his own compositions of which he has written several of note. He started his writing at a very young age, his first composition was finished before he reached the age of six.

It is hoped that Janesville's music loving public will take advantage of the opportunity to hear the rare talent offered on Mr. Conlin's program by the K. of C. at the "New Myers

NEW MYERS THEATRE.

Tom Powell's Peerless Minstrels. Good singing, clever dancing, clean comedy, high grade music is always acceptable, and this is the make-up of the Tom Powell Minstrels which will appear at the New Myers theatre, Thursday, Oct. 12, matinee and night. Among the fun-makers for that go to make the performance fast and furious is Billy Doss, America's best black face comedian. The Dixie Serenaders, a quartet of men that blend their voices into delightful melody. Greenleaf and Klefer, who are known as "The boys with the dancing feet." The Musical Conservatory, which consists of a big six people musical act, and has been a feature in all the best vaudeville theatres. Happy Gordon, one of these comedians that has a peculiar style of his own. As an especial feature the highest priced and most sensational act of its kind in the world has been included. The Merriott Troupe, who defy death daily in their sensational swing in mid-air attached to a flying monoplane. In addition to this a large company of clever performers assist in making the performance one that will prove acceptable to the most exacting. Tom Powell's peerless concert band will make their big parade at noon and lovers of good music will do well to attend. Remember the date—Thursday, Oct. 12.

Is Your Hair Getting Thin?

If your hair is coming out badly, breaking off or turning gray, some of the five vital elements—oxygen, nitrogen, hydrogen, carbon or sulphur are missing. Supply these to the scalp and hair roots by using

VOLA-VITA

Your hair will then, naturally, begin to grow on thin places. It will take on a new life and stop falling out. Gradually the youthful color will return and your hair will have a delightful luster and softness.
Yet, with all its effectiveness, Volu-Vita contains no alcohol, for, alcohol actually stimulates, but eventually burns out and kills the roots.

Volu-Vita is sold and guaranteed by all good

$1.00 a bottle.

How to Heal
Skin Diseases

A Baltimore doctor suggests this simple, but reliable and inexpensive, home treatment for people suffering with eczema, ringworm, rashes and similar itching, burning skin troubles.

Get a reliable druggist's jar of resinol ointment and a cake of resinol soap.
These are not at all expensive. With the resinol soap and warm water bathe the affected parts thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is softened. Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the resinol ointment, and cover with a light bandage—if necessary to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Usually the itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again.

Almost any soap will clean the skin and hair. But those who want a soap which not only cleanses but actually helps the complexion and hair are wise to choose resinol soap.

How Father John's Medicine Got Its Name—Facts That Everybody Ought To Know

Father John's Devotion To His Work

Carleton & Hovey where it was compounded on June 9, 1855. This prescription produced such excellent results that Father John was soon able to resume his labors among the people and everywhere he went he would recommend the medicine to his parishioners.

People soon acquired the habit of going to the old drug store and asking for "Father John's" medicine. In this way the medicine was named by the people and because of the results which it accomplished, it soon became the family remedy in countless homes.

From this small beginning more than sixty years ago, Father John's Medicine has become more and more widely known, until today it is the standard family remedy in thousands of homes all over the country. Mothers especially recognize its value because they know it is a pure and wholesome food medicine which makes flesh and strength without using alcohol or dangerous drugs and is, therefore, safe for children as well as older people. Every druggist carries Father John's Medicine in stock. Many families keep it on hand constantly.

As a guarantee that all of the facts regarding the origin of Father John's Medicine, as stated above, are absolutely true, the manufacturers of Father John's Medicine will give $25,000.00 to any charity, if it can be shown otherwise.

If you have any difficulty in securing Father John's Medicine from your druggist, write to Father John's Medicine, Lowell, Mass., enclosing $1.00 for

The two men spend much time together. Duane made up a short fic-tious story about himself that satisfied the outlaw, only it drew forth a laughing jest upon Duane's modesty.
For Fletcher did not hide his belief that this new partner was a man of achievements. Knell and Poggin, and then Cheseldine himself, would be persuaded of this fact, so Fletcher boasted. He had influence. He would use it. He thought he pulled a stroke with Knell. But nobody on earth, not even the boss, had any influence on Poggin. Poggin was concentrated ice part of the time; all the rest he was bursting hell. But Poggin loved a horse. He never loved anything else. He could be won with that black horse Bullet. Cheseldine was already won by Duane's monumental nerve; otherwise he would have killed Duane.

Little by little the next few days Duane learned the points he longed to know; and how indelibly they etched themselves in his memory! Chesel-dine's hiding-place was on the far slope of Mount Ord, in a deep, high-walled valley. He always went there just before a contemplated job, where he met and planned with his henchmen. Then while they executed he basked in the sunshine before one or another of the public places he owned.
He was there in the Ord now, getting ready to plan the biggest job yet. It was a bank-robbery; but where, Fletcher had not as yet been advised.

Then when Duane had pumped the now amenable outlaw of all details pertaining to the present he gathered data and facts and places covering a period of ten years Fletcher had been with Cheseldine. And herewith was unfolded a history so dark in its bloody, regime, so incredible in its brutal, so appalling in its proof of the outlaw's swart and cruel of "God Almighty! You Braced the—"

the country from Pecos to Rio Grande, that Duane was stunned. Compared to this Cheseldine of the Big Bend, to this rancher, stock-buyer, cattlespeculator, property-holder, all the outlaws Duane had ever known sank into insignificance. The power of the man, stunned Duane; the strange fidelity given him stunned Duane; the intricate inside working of his great system was equally stunning. But when Duane recovered from that the old terrible passion to kill consumed him, and it raged fiercely and it could not be checked. If that red-headed Poggin, if that cold-eyed, dead-faced Knell had only been at Ord! But they were not, and Duane with help of time got what he hoped was the upper hand of himself.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Again inaction and suspense dragged at Duane's spirit.

But one day there were signs of the long quiet of Ord being broken. A messenger strange to Duane rode in on a secret mission that had to do with Fletcher. Duane was present in the tavern when the fellow arrived saw the few words whispered, but did not hear them. Fletcher turned white with anger or fear, perhaps both, and he cursed like a madman. The messenger rode away off to the west.
This vest mystified and fascinated Duane as much as the south beyond Mount Ord. After the messenger left Fletcher grew silent and surly. It became clear now that the other outlaws of the camp feared him, kept out of his way. Duane let him alone, yet closely watched him.

Perhaps an hour after the messenger had left, not longer, Fletcher manifestly arrived at some decision, and he called for his horse. Then he went to his shack and returned. To Duane the outlaw looked in shape both to ride and to fight. He gave orders for the men in camp to keep close until he returned. Then he mounted.

"Come here, Dodge," he called.
Duane went up and laid a hand on the pommel of the saddle. Fletcher walked his horse, with Duane beside him, till they reached the log bridge, when he halted.

"Dodge, I'm in bad with Knell," he said. "An' it 'pears I'm the cause of friction between Knell an' Poggy.
Knell never had any use fer me, but Poggy's been square. If not friendly, The boss had a big deal on, an' here it's been held up because of this scrap. He's waitin' over there on the mountain to give orders to Knell or Poggy, an' neither one's showin' up.
I've got to stand in the breach, an'
I ain't enjoyin' the prospects."

"What's the trouble about, Jim?" asked Duane.
"Reckon it's a little about you, Dodge," said Fletcher, dryly. "Knell hain't any use fer you thet day.
Knell claims to know somethin' about you that 'll make both the boss an' Poggy sick when he springs it. But he's keepin' quiet. Hard man to figger, thet Knell. Reckon you'd better go back to Bradford fer a day or so, then camp out here till I come back."

"Why?"
"Wal, because there ain't any use fer you to git in bad, too. The gang will ride over here any day. If they're friendly I'll light a fire on the hill there, say three nights from tonight. If you don't see it thet night you hit the trail. I'll do what I can.
Jim Fletcher sticks to his pals. So long, Dodge."

He left Duane in a quandary. This news was black. At the moment Duane did not know which way to turn, but certainly he had no idea of going back to Bradford. Friction between the two great lieutenants of Cheseldine! Generally such matters were settled with guns. Duane gathered encouragement even from disaster. If Knell knew anything it was that this stranger in Ord, this new partner of Fletcher's, was no less than Buck Duane. Well, it was about time, thought Duane, that he made use of his name if it were to help him at all.

That name had been MacNelly's hope.
He had anchored all his scheme to Duane's fame. Duane was tempted to ride off after Fletcher and stay with him. This, however, would hardly be fair to an outlaw who had been fair to him. Duane concluded to await developments, and when the gang rode in to Ord, probably from their various hiding places, he would be there ready to be denounced by Knell. Duane could not see any other culmination of this series of events than a meeting between Knell and himself. If that terminated fatally for Knell there was all probability of Duane's being in no worse situation than he was now. If Poggin took up the quarrel! Here Duane accused himself again—tried in vain to revolt from a judgment that he was only reasoning out excuses to meet these outlaws.

Meanwhile, instead of waiting, why not hunt up Cheseldine in his mountain retreat? The thought no sooner struck Duane than he was hurrying for his horse.

In an hour he struck the slope of Mount Ord, and as he climbed he got among broken rocks and cliffs, and was hard put to it to find the trail.
He halted at a little side-canyon with grass and water, and here he made camp. And on this night, lonely like the ones he used to spend in the Nueces gorge, and memorable of them because of a likeness to that old hiding-place, he felt the pressing return of old haunting things—the past so long ago, wild flights, dead faces—and the places of these were taken by one quivering alive, white, tragic, with its dark, intent, speaking eyes—Ray Longstreth's.

That last memory he yielded to until he slept.
In the morning, satisfied that he had left still fewer tracks than he had followed up this trail, he led his horse up to the head of the canyon,

Fenced Him In.

into a narrow crack in low cliffs, and with branches of cedar fenced him in.
Then he went back and took up the trail on foot.

Without the horse he made better time. Once, through a wide gateway between great escarpments, he saw the lower country beyond this vast and clear as it lay in his sight, was the great river that made the Big Bend.
He rounded a jutting corner, where view had been shut off, and presently came out upon the rim of a high wall.
Beneath, like a green gulf seen through blue haze, lay an amphitheater walled in on the two sides he could see. It lay, perhaps, a thousand feet below him; and, plain as all the other features of that wild environment, there shone out, a big red stone or adobe cabin, white water shining away between borders, and horses and cattle dotting the level. It was a peaceful, beautiful scene. Duane could not help grinning; his teeth at the thought of rustlers living in quiet and ease.

Duane worked half-way down to the level, and well hidden in a niche, he seated himself to watch both trail and valley.
The sun went down behind the wall, and shadows were born in the darker places of the valley. Duane began to want to get closer to that cabin. Still he lingered. And suddenly his wide-roving eye caught sight of two horsemen riding up the valley.

They must have entered at a point below, round the huge abutment of rock, beyond Duane's range of sight.
Their horses were tired and stopped at the stream for a long drink.

Duane left his perch, took to the steep trail, and descended as fast as he could without making noise. It did not take him long to reach the valley floor. It was almost level, with deep grass, and here and there clumps of bushes. Twilight was already thick down there. Duane marked the location of the trail, and then began to slip like a shadow through the grass and from bush to bush. He saw a bright light before he made out the dark outline of the cabin. Then he heard voices, a merry whistle, a course song, and the clink of iron cooking utensils. He smelled fragrant wood smoke. He saw moving dark figures cross the light. Evidently there was a wide door, or else the fire was out in the open.

Duane swerved to the left, out of direct line with the light, and thus was able to see better. Then he advanced noiselessly but swiftly toward the back of the house. There were trees close to the wall. He would make no noise, and he could scarcely be seen—if only there was no watchdog! But all his outlaw days he had taken risks with only his useless life at stake; now, with that changed, he advanced.
He stealthily and bold as an Indian, he reached the cover of the trees, knew he was hidden in their shadows, for at few paces distance he had been able to see only their tops. From there he slipped up to the house and felt along the wall with his hands.

He came to a little window where light shone through. He peeped in.
He saw a room shrouded in shadows, a lamp turned low, a table, chairs.
He saw an open door, with bright flare beyond, but could not see the fire.
Voices came indistinctly. He went on round that end of the cabin. Fortune favored him. There were bushes, an old shed, a wood-pile, all the cover he needed at that corner. He did not even need to crawl.

The nervous man had an unconquerable dread of fire. Even when he went holiday-making he carried a rope with a hook on the end to facilitate his escape in case of fire. In one of his summer trips the proprietor of a small country hotel happened to come into the nervous guest's bedroom just as he was unpacking. The proprietor's eyes lighted on the rope.

"What is that?" he asked, suspiciously.
"That is a fire escape," the nervous man said. "I always have it with me so that in case of fire I can let myself down from the window."
The landlord rubbed his chin medi-tatively. "That is not a bad idea," he said at length, "but guests with fire escapes pay in advance at this hotel."

and makes for economy
operation

Thousands upon thousands of dollars annually paid by American householders for fuel to heat their homes are wasted. Why?
Because much of the heating energy of the fuel escapes in the form of soot, smoke and gases.

The furnace not equipped to get the heat out of the by-products of the fuel, the smoke, soot and gases is an economic crime. It leads to unwarrant-ably large fuel bills. It means that the furnace will require an unnatural amount of care and attention.

"Garland" Warm Air Furnaces are specifically and scientifically designed to extract the heating properties of the smoke, soot and gases. A maximum degree of actual heating energy is positively secured from every pound of fuel used.

As a matter of business economy, the feature of practically perfect combustion recommends itself to all who make a practice of getting value received for their money. It means a handsome saving in their fuel bills. It assures that the furnace will require only a minimum amount of attention.

SEVERAL UPHEAVALS FEATURED GRIDIRON BATTLES SATURDAY

And Safe to Say Some Coaches Had Something Unprintable to Say
After the Games.

The gloom that is hanging over the midway at present is equalled only by that which pervaded the state of mind of the Harvard college, Carleton, a trial horse for Minnesota, met Chicago in a football game on Saturday, and when Coach Stagg had finished telling his athletes what he thought of them, the Varsity were on the short end of a 7 to 0 score. Down in Cambridge, Tufts college, an infant in comparison to the big eastern giants, wallowed Harvard, 7 to 0, resulting in a knockout blow for the Crimson championship aspirations.

Saturday certainly was a day of upsets. Wisconsin looked for an easy victory over Lawrence. The upstate school played with winning men almost to even terms and when the game was over had lost, 20 to 0. In Milwaukee, Marquette met the sea-Milwaukee Normal. In past years Marquette, with a mediocre team, has found the future teachers the safest kind of picking. They won Saturday, 6 to 0, but it was almost an empty victory.

Rely on Old Methods. We have a well defined hunch that Wisconsin could have raised its score on Lawrence if it had cared to. Wisconsin's Harvard methods are new to the west, and Minnesota, Illinois and Chicago all had representatives present at the game. They won, 17 to 0, but it was a new and not a sure thing. He expected little that was new and his own school on ancient tactics during the entire game. Lawrence was defeated with having an exceptionally strong team. They won from St. Norbert's college of De Pere by only a 6 to 0 in their first game and St. Norbert's has no college ranking as a football institution.

It would be unfair, however, to take away from Lawrence the fruits of a well fought struggle, and the score must stand as an excellent showing for the Bulldogs.

Coming into Milwaukee's back yard, there is Marquette. Evidently the Marquette school has not the football squad that has been reported.

The Gold and Blue was credited with having the best football eleven since 1911. If the members of the 1911 football team had played the kind of football displayed at the hill-top field on Saturday they would have been too ashamed to don football togs again.

Marquette is Overconfident. When Coach McAlister had to say to his gang after the Normal game on Saturday would not be used in any good family newspaper. The hilltop lads have been so confident that they have drawn some overconfidence. Because so many nice things were said about them, they imagined that they were the king pins of the gridiron world. It will be a good thing for them if the Normal players have knocked some of the conceit out of their domes.

The Lawrence game is only a week away. This is one of the deciding games for the state championship, and the hilltoppers will need plenty of work if they hope to whip the northwesterners. McAlister has the material, at least enough, and the team has been seen of his play on the field he knows how to teach football, but you can't tell a better who thinks he's a champion that anyone can whip him.

Marquette must take the brace this week. If it does not, and Lawrence runs up a large score, the hilltoppers' supporters may as well put their enthusiasm back away on their straw hats and summer flannels until next fall, for they will only be wasting it.

FORT BEATS SHEBOYGAN IN WISCONSIN SERIES.

Buster Braun, twirling for the Sheboygan team, winners of the Lake Shore league pennant, was given a kicking here on Sunday by the Fort Atkinson team. Central State league winners, in the race for the state semi-championship by a score of 7 to 6, but was kicked for a total of ten safe drives by the local team while Stack was also touched up quite frequently, the Chair city line finding him for nine safe swats. This evened the teams in the race for the state title.

THIS WEEK'S SCHEDULES

Tonight: Bechnuts vs. Peanuts.
Tuesday: Butternuts vs. Cocoanuts.
Wednesday: Peacocks vs. Brails.
Thursday: Walnuts vs. Filberts.
Friday: Hazelnuts vs. Hickories.

Changes are looked for this week among the four leaders of the Nut Bowling league. The Hickories are in first place with a slight advantage over the Hazels, Walnut and Filberts. From past performances it seems that the game Friday night between the Hazelnuts and the Hickories is the only one which is liable to cause any disruption with the first berth and even that is a matter of doubt.

Individual Averages. Secretary Edward Bauman this morning released the sheet covering individual averages. "Doc" Richards is in the lead. He has sent 1,587 wooden boys "prone on their backs" in nine games which gives him an average of 177.46 for each game. Paul Kirchoff has hit 1,558 for an average of 173.19. The averages of the eleven leaders in the league are as follows:

WISCONSIN VICTOR BUT LITTLE KNOWN OF REAL STRENGTH

Withington Evidently Checked Badgers Saturday to Hide Team's Real Strength—Win 20 to 0.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 9.—Although the victory over Lawrence in the initial game of the year was only gained by the score of 20 to 0, Dr. Withington was satisfied with the work done by the Badger gridiron men. Their knowledge of the fundamentals of the game was clearly noticeable and with three weeks remaining before the big game of the year the Harvard coach should get his men into shape. Not once during the afternoon did a Lawrence player free himself of a Carleton grip on his hands on him. The playing of the linemen was another feature of the play which marked an advance in the Badger style. In the past years the Wisconsin line played high and failed to hold out, but this year all the men were fast in getting the start and kept low, with the result that Lawrence made their first down only four times during the game. Three of the first downs were made when the "second string" men were playing, so in reality only one first down was made by the regular line in the first half of play. The Badgers relied on straight plays to earn their victory. Forward passes were tried only three times and these during the last quarter when the game had been already won. Olsen and Berg were sent through the Lawrence line after time for consideration. Olsen made one or two costly fumbles which kept the Badgers from enlarging on their score. Berg scored two touchdowns on line plunges. One touchdown was made on the first fifteen yard drive through the Lawrence center.

Elder entered the battle in the final quarter and played a great game. He opened the quarter with a line tackle for a jump over left tackle which resulted in a touchdown, the final of the game. Elder during the previous practices has been playing at fullback, but in the game he played at fullback. The local boy proved himself of varsity caliber and many students are expecting him to secure a place on the first eleven before the conference season opens.

Captain Meyers was unable to play because of a complication of ailments. Cramer was also on the injured list and did not take a place at the extremity of the line. Garney and Keyes, members of the freshmen squad last year, took care of left end, while Kelly was right end. As the game began to go in favor of the Badgers, Dr. Withington gave all available men a chance at the guard and tackle places. Gray played three quarters, which was the longest time which a regular was allowed to remain in the contest. The men who played tackle were Piltzer, Horn, Koch, Carpenter and Gray. At guards, Hancock, Gunderson, Hipke and Graper took turns. Carpenter and Owens alternated at center.

Taylor directed the men during the first three quarters in excellent fashion. He also made some long runs, returning the Lawrence punts, which were hard to handle. McCrory entered the game when Taylor was taken out, but failed to instill the pep which Taylor had in the men. His giving of signals was also weak and many times he was forced to delay the game in repeating the plays. The other backfield men to get a chance in the game were Kreuz at fullback, Muller and Wahl at halves.

Elliott for Lawrence was the tower of strength and his playing alone kept Lawrence from a worse defeat. He carried the ball consistently and only twice was he thrown for a loss by the Badger ends. Pond, fullback, and Julein deserve mentions for their defensive work. The punting by the Lawrence backs was so weak that on every exchange of kicks they lost fifteen to twenty yards.

WINDY CITY HONORS TO WHITE SOX, 4 TO 0

Victory of Rowlands Saturday Makes it Four Straight Over National League Rivals.

The White Sox closed the annual fall frolic against the Cubs Saturday by trimming them, 4 to 3. It was another battle in which the war clubs of the victors asserted themselves at the proper time two big innings scoring all their runs and giving them their fourth straight win over the National League rivals.

The Cubs outbatted the Sox, 10 to 9, but some of them were lucky blows that did no damage.

FAIRIES DEFEAT JEFFREYS IN TWO OF THREE CONTESTS

The Beloit Fairbanks-Morse closed their season yesterday by splitting a double-header with the Kenosha Jeffers line. With a victory on Saturday to their credit the Fairies made it two out of three for the series and eliminated Kenosha from the Lutzinger cup play. The scores were: Kenosha, Beloit, 2 and Beloit, 4; Kenosha, 0. The second game went but five innings, the Line City team getting all its tallies in the fourth.

ATHLETIC SUPREMACY TO WEST THIS YEAR

Athletics From This Section Outshine Eastern Stars for Past Season in Sports.

New York, Oct. 9.—The wild and woolly west has pried the crown of athletic supremacy from the classic brow of the east and slapped it upon its own tanned forehead.

In the whole athletic realm there isn't an event in which westerners haven't put their intrusive fingers with an air of championship, with the exception of those games which the westerners cannot reach. Here is a table of championships which may prove interesting:

Heavyweight pugilistic champion—Jess Willard of Kansas.
Featherweight champion—Johnny Kilbane of Ohio.
Bantamweight champion—Young Eric of Minnesota (Claimed).
Light heavyweight champion—Jack Dillon of Indiana.

All around athletic champion—Fred Kelly of California.
Swimming champion—Lady Langer of American league batting champion—Hal Chase of California.

Amateur open golf champion—Charles Evans of Illinois.
National league's premier pitcher—Alexander of Nebraska.
Wrestling champion—Joe Stecher of Nebraska.

Tennis doubles champions—Johnson and Griffin of California.
The west didn't get its fingers into the world's series pie, but some of the most prominent members of each competing team are out west when they're at home.

Jerome Travers and Francis Quinnet, the east's two best golfers, have not been in tournaments this year, and consequently, were not of any help in saving honors for the east. As the recent A. A. U. field and track meet at Newark brought some crack athletes to the east from the west, among them were Robert Simpson of Missouri and Fred S. Murray of California, two hurdlers whose equals never have been seen. It also showed Landers, the wonderful schoolboy athlete of Illinois who came within an inch of tying the A. A. U. record for the pole vault. It also gave the spectators a glimpse of Andy Ward, the Chicago sprinter, and Arlie Alicks, the prodigious Wisconsin weight thrower. These are just a few of the many athletes in the west whose records show they are able to give a good account of themselves in any contest. The athletics who went to the Sea-

Connie Mack doesn't complain often. Therefore, when he says that some of the umpiring has been bad in the American league this season, he should get attention. Mack's complaint is not so much against the umpires calling plays wrong. He is willing to admit that mistakes will be made by the best of them. But he does object to the indifference of the arbitrators in making their rulings clear and their apparent attitude that neither players nor public have any rights the umpires are bound to respect. Connie's argument is that the umpires should be on their toes all the time, just as is demanded of players. Fans who have seen umpires blundering through games apparently half asleep or dreaming of something far from the game, will agree that Mack's complaint is well taken.

DALTON IS A STAR ON DUBUQUE ELEVEN

Playing of Janesville Man Big Factor in Defeat of William and Vashti on Saturday, 32 to 0.

Dubuque, Ia., Oct. 8.—What was expected to be a hard fought game turned out to be a one-sided victory here Saturday when Dubuque college defeated William and Vashti 32 to 0. During the first twenty-five minutes of play honors were about even with Dubuque on the defensive most of the time. The break of the game came when Cantillon made a sixty-yard run and Dalton dashed thirty yards through the visiting team for a touchdown.

Dubuque's line was the main reason why the William and Vashti defense cracked. Early in the game the visitors came to realize that the local combination was a thing of bulk and brawn which could not be tampered with and they relied almost wholly on the forward pass. George intercepted a punt in the first part of the second half and placed Dubuque in a position to score. From then on everything came Dubuque's way. Brilliant work on the line by Jones and Dalton's line plunging were responsible for the back touchdowns. A long forward pass, Martin to Moyer, netted the fourth and Cronin's brilliant offensive work gave McGuire an opportunity to carry the ball over for the fifth and final touchdown. With thirty seconds left to play, Cantillon raced through the Illinois team again and placed the line within a half foot of the goal where it was when time was called.

Another first baseman of Italian persuasion is to break into the Coast league and it is promised he will outshine Louis Guisto. His name is Hieran and the Seals have grabbed him from the Gridley team of the California Trolley league. He is said to be faster than Guisto and has shown as much hitting ability—in the bushes.

That the management of the Chicago Cubs still believes in the Federal league is indicated by the fact that when given choice of selection from Kansas City, it took Chuck Deal, Deal failed as a player in both the National and American leagues. He was a shining light with the outlaws and also has been a great ball player in the American Association. But then, the big show is something else again.

THOUGHT HE WAS CHEATED ON DEAL FOR ZACK WHEAT

One of the biggest baseball bargains on record was Zack Wheat. C. Hercules Ebbets bought him from Mobile in 1903 for $1,200 and at the time figured that maybe those southerners were slipping a little something over on him. But Ebbets got a surprise—and an agreeable one.

Wheat has been a major leaguer for eight seasons and finished with a clubbing average beyond 300 on five separate and distinct occasions. Oddly enough he never hit .300 in the minors, yet in his first year in the big leagues he clubbed .300 for 304. In 1912 he hit for .305, in 1913 it was .301, in 1914 for .319. He slumped to .258 last year, but came right back this season with something like .320.

The Cincinnati Reds played an exhibition game in Jersey City on a recent off Sunday. They met up with a young pitcher named Jimmy Clinton, who pitched for the Jersey Independents and beat them 6 to 0, allowing but two hits. Of course, Maty wanted to sign the youngster, but he is under contract to have aspirations otherwise. He thinks that if he is good enough for the majors than he

A Sensible Cigarette

Such men want comfort AFTER smoking

IT'S NOTICEABLE that more and more substantial men are choosing Fatimas for their steady smoke. There must be some reason for it. Surely, these men would quickly pay a far higher price for another cigarette if it suited them better.

That is just it. No other cigarette can quite give what Fatimas give.

Some other cigarettes taste good, yes. But Fatimas do more—they are comfortable. Not only are they comfortable to the throat and tongue while you smoke them, but, much more important, they leave a man feeling keen and "fit" AFTER smoking, even though he smokes more than usual.
